TWO BITES OF AN APPLE.

Or How Moore County and its People Came to Town.

The excursion that came from down the Cape Fear road this morning brought people. The excursion had evidently paused for awhile in Moore county and the dwellers in the stretches of sand and pine had obeyed the conductor's mandate to "all aboard." They had all boarded—for the first time and had come to see Greensboro, a city with electric lights and a government building. How big the world was!

Romeo and Juliet strolled up street, dividing their time between the strange and wonderful sights and each other. The fruiterer proved too much for Romeo. He looked, hesitated and was lost. He bought a big red apple—red even as were Juliet's cheeks—and taking therefrom a huge bite, passed it on to Juliet, who simpered and bit it, too. And so they passed out of sight—as did the apple. And everybody knew an excursion had come to town.

Some of the Sweets.

The Telegram force today tasted some of the sweets of the newspaper business. H. L. Stribling, the new baker, presented the force with a nice large fruit cake, fresh from his bakery. It was really too pretty to cut, being beautifully trimmed and covered with icing, with the letters "Presented by H. L. S." artistically arranged on the top.

This is one of the things that lighten the cares of the hardworked newspaper man—some of the sweets that are sweet, and Mr. Stribling has our warmest thanks for this gratuitous gift.

Reception to Normal Girls.

The Epworth League of West Market Street church tendered a reception last night to those of the Normal College girls who are members of the Methodist church. From 8 o'clock to 10:30 were the hours and the handsome edifice was filled with happy young folks and old, too, for that matter. The young gentlemen of the city showed their appreciation of a rare opportunity by turning out in force. Delightful refreshments were served and the only regret was that the time was all too short.

Evil of Example.

The board of agriculture has been reading in the newspapers about the Chicago aldermen voting themselves $1,500 annual salary and so some of the members are making a fight to have a session every 6 days. That would be $4,800 for the lot in per diem and mileage. Some of the members said today they would fight this movement, even if they had to leave and break a quorum.—Col. Olds.

Says McCoy Deserves No Credit For Defeating Creedon as the Latter Was Out of Force.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

New York, Dec. 18—McCoy who defeated Creedon for the middle-weight Championship last night said this morning that he did not feel sore He says he could fight again tonight at a moments notice and is surprised at his condition today. He declares that Creedon is the best man he ever met and as game as any man he ever saw enter the ring. He does not think it was Creedon's wish that his seconds should throw up the sponge. Creedon left on the midnight train for Chicago. Sporting circles were much surprised when informed of this today. They could not understand Creedon's hurry.

HOW FITZ SEES IT.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM

Milwaukee, Dec. 18—Fitzsimmons who is playing an engagement here says he does not take the rumor that McCoy will challenge him seriously. He declares that there are plenty of others ready to challenge him and that McCoy is entitled to no special credit for defeating Creedon who has not been taking care of himself and was easy to defeat. Fitz said he had retired from the ring and would not fight again.

LAST DAY OF THE BAZAAR.

This Evening Will be Your Only Opportunity.

The Christmas Bazaar which began in the McAdoo building on Thursday and has been such an unqualified success will close this evening. It has been well attended throughout and has been a pleasant feature of the closing days of the year. Nearly everything had been sold out last night but the ladies will make arrangements to accommodate all who wish to buy this evening. The building has been crowded each evening with young folks and old and this evening will hardly be an exception.

Mr. Julius Cone entertained a large party of friends at the bazaar restaurant last night. Tonight there will be an auction in the garden of girls.

Mrs. Staples, Mrs. Brantly, Mrs. Leftwich and the other ladies who worked so hard and patiently are to be congratulated on the outcome of their efforts.

Freight Rates.

The railroad commission issues orders, effective at once, fixing rates of freight on provisions, such as corn, meal, flour, etc., making the rate the same for any quantity as for car load lots. This is done in the interest of small shippers. The railroads had made a rate of 4 cents per hundred pounds higher than the car load rate. —Charlotte Observer.

"Provided, That in cases where the sales of a retail liquor dealer, or wholesale or retail dealer in malt liquors, carrying on his business without having paid the special tax required by law, shall have amounted to less than ten gallons, the punishment for the first conviction thereof shall not exceed a fine of one hundred dollars or imprisonment for sixty days, or both; and the United States commissioners shall have jurisdiction to hear and determine the cases falling under this proviso, and for such purpose shall, unless defendant waives a trial by jury, cause to be summoned and impanel a jury of twelve men to try the cause; but the defendant shall have the right of appeal to the district court."

Graded School Entertainment.

The children of the Lindsay street graded school gave quite an interesting and pleasing entertainment at the school building last night. The stage was beautifully decorated with pictures and evergreens. There was a Christmas tree filled with presents for the little ones. Those who attended enjoyed the singing, recitations, etc., of the performers, who showed in their every action that they were glad that "Old Santa Claus" was passing this way again.

The little girls were elegantly costumed and presented a beautiful sight upon the stage.

Several pieces on the program were admirably rendered and deserve special mention. The proceeds, which amounted to $11.60, will be used to purchase new books for the second grade.

Snow White.

The curtain will rise on "Snow White's" birthday party promptly at 3 o'clock, December 22d. The libretto of this opretta is founded upon Grimm's well known fairy story, "Snow White," and is written by Clara Louis Bernham, the popular story writer.

The music is by George F. Root. Admission, 10 cents.

The Board Lingers.

The Raleigh correspondent of the Charlotte Observer says:

The board of agriculture has disposed of all its business here in two days. It finds an excuse for remaining, so as to draw pay, just as it found one for meeting during the state fair at an expense of $800. Today its members went to the Agricultural and Mechanical College to see the inoculation of cows for tuberculosis. Four more cows have been killed there, making 12 in all.

Facts Worth Studying.

If the Southern Stock-Mutual pays no larger dividends than the 20 per cent. now paid, and the business increases during the next seven years in the same ratio it has increased during the last three years, the actual saving for the ten years to policy-holders in North and South Carolina will be $194,822.00, and to the policy-holders in Greensboro alone, $26,237.00. Besides this the Company's assets (reinsurance reserve and surplus) represented by still larger figures will be kept at home and invested in the state. What better investment can the public make than by upholding an institution like this?

HOW TO SAVE IT.

We noted some days since that both t l cotton growers and bankers were saving the country down in Atlanta. The cotton growers after a trial of some days admitted themselves baffled. Not so the bankers. They worked off the following new nuggets of financial wisdom:

Take the banking business out of politics.

Take the Government out of the banking business.

Avoid the expense and danger always attendant upon Government issues by retiring and cancelling the greenbacks and Treasury notes of 1890.

Demonstrate to the world that the credit of the United States is as high as that of any other nation.

Increase the amount of gold and silver in circulation among the people.

Reduce our eight different kinds of money to only two—namely, specie and bank notes.

Make all banks equal under any law of the United States providing for banks of issue.

All these things are so easy, just like the proverbial falling off a log, and so definite; so terse and so to the point. Take this one for example: "Increase the amount of gold and silver in circulation among the people." Now is not that just like swallowing an eel, for a government that has been taken "out of the banking business?"

You can rake over all the populist platforms enunciated and promulgated since the first band of bewhiskered Solomons resoluted and you cannot find a bigger fool sentence than this one gravely put forth by a body of "feenancheers."

How pray is the increase of "gold and silver in circulation among the people" to be brought about? A purer piece of demagoguery and a more putrid piece of tommy-rot has not been foisted upon a people, supposed to have some small remnants of common sense left, in a decade. It was both very cheap and very contemptible.

We venture the prediction that if the plan of currency reform evolved by Secretary Gage and now under consideration, is adopted it will be found to be loaded. The secretary says it will not necessarily restrict the use of silver to subsidiary coin and it will not necessarily drive all other forms of paper money out of use. The secretary, like the recent message of his chief, is beautifully diplomatic. It will not necessarily do any of these things—it will just do them and that is all there is to it. If congressmen be wise they will see to it that the volume of the circulating medium of the country is not placed more largely under the control of private concerns than is the case at present.

The Telegram has been favored with a copy of some verselets, to which no name was appended and no means of apprehending the author given. If the very young lady who indited the rhymes will send in her name we will raise the question of publication at the next regular meeting of the stockholders of this paper.

Those who have patience to wait will hear some choice detonations of eloquence from Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Louis congressmen when the bill increasing the beer tax comes up.

General Cassius M. Clay has lost a wife, but the senate has assumed the role of consoler to the tune of $50 per month. And yet General Clay owns a square mile or so of blue grass Kentucky.

Labor Commissioner Wright's assertion that two million dollars can be saved by placing the next census taking in the hands of men working under civil service regulations has not created any great amount of any enthusiasm among the faithful.

The grand army which declared for school histories made to order has once more demonstrated its breadth by condemining President Benjamin Andrews for a tribute to R. E. Lee. Is it possible that the brave men who confronted the South in the sixties have degenerated into querulous old women under our pension system? Their actions of late warrant such a deduction.

Some days ago we spoke of the action of the board of aldermen in deciding to submit the question of sewerage extension to a vote of the citizens. Since writing the former article we are informed that such an extension will involve no increase in the tax rates at all, as the yearly increase in the value of taxable property will make up for the increased expenditure. If no increase in the taxes is necessitated there will probably be little opposition to what will, at once, commend itself to the thoughtful citizens as a wise and needful measure.

SATURDAY'S LITERARY CHAT.

[All books and magazines mentioned below may be had at Wharton's book store.]

The historical romance, "Perpetua" (Dutton), by Rev. S. Baring Gould, is a tale of Nimes in the third century (213 A. D.), and depicts the struggles of primitive Christianity in an interesting period of Roman history, when the Church was slowly advancing against paganism. It is a battle of the faith against the decaying superstitions of imperial Rome, and the author's orthodoxy admits of no question. The story opens in the city of Nemansus, the modern Nimes, where the annual sacrifice—a virgin—is being made to the god Nemansus, the founder of the city and guardian of a fountain supplying the place with water. Out of 47 maidens Perpetua is selected by the priests, but, after leaping into the bubbling waters, she is gallantly rescued by Aemillus, a lawyer, who, of course, falls in love with her. Subsequently she forfeits her life for refusing to scatter incense on a heathen altar, because she "believes in Christ." The social customs of the times are described, but the main idea is to show the fortitude of the rising Christians, their sacrifices and martyrdom.—Philadelphia Record.

The full name of the editor of the new journal, Literature, is Henry Duff Traill. He was born at Blackheath, London, August 14, 1842, the youngest son of a metropolitan Magistrate. He graduated from Oxford in 1864 and entered the bar, which he later deserted. Among his most important works are his lives of Sterne and Coleridge, Shaftesbury (the first Earl), William III and "Strafford." He has also written "Saturday Songs," political verse and a story, entitled "Two Proper Prides."

Mr. Stephen Phillips, whose little volume, entitled "Christ in Hades," won him the regard of all lovers of true poetry, is about to publish through, Mr, John Lane, a larger volume, in which "Christ in Hades" will be incorporated. The book will include the poem entitled "The Woman With the Dead Soul" and also a poem of modern life, called "The Wife."

***

The Trinity Achive for December comes out in holiday attire and with a readable table of contents. Justice Walter Clark contributes a most interesting paper on the election of United States Senators by the people in which he brings out some rather startling figures. He claims that under the present system it is possible to control the election of a senator by controlling one-sixteenth of the voting population. He argues convincingly in support of that thesis. The poems of the number are tolerably good, "Non Omnis Moriar," by Mr. D. W. Newsom being, perhaps, the best. The literary tone of this periodical speaks well for Trinity College.

***

The current Munsey is, perhaps, tolerably familiar to the magazine reading public by this time—if not no one need grieve. Mr. Hall Caine's Christian continues his travails in this vale of tears, Marion Crawford's Italian brigands still do deeds that must make serving maids thrill with romantic emotion, while Anthony Hope tells about his favorite novelist and Sinekiewicz contributes a short story.

Quality First

Price Second

Quality should always be considered FIRST in purchasing food supplies. The few cents difference in the price of a first-class article and a poor article would hardly be noticed in the monthly account—So don't deceive yourself by trying to economize in purchasing Cheap Goods—they are dearer in the end.

For nearly twenty-seven years we have been supplying the people of this city and surrounding country with groceries, and our motto has always been:

"First-class Goods at a Living Profit."

Come in and see what an attractive display of Christmas Goods we have.

Christmas Carnival.

The Christmas Carnival to be given by the Brockmann Orchestra, of which there have been some rumors, has taken shape as follows: The Academy of Music has been secured for the nights of Wednesday and Thursday, December 29th and 30th. The entire building, basement, stage, gallery, vestibule and stairs will be thrown open. Part of the seats will be removed so that there will be room to move around and be sociable. The Brockmann Orchestra of nearly twenty-five instruments will be on the stage and play at short intervals bright and popular music. The True Remedy.

W. M. Repine, editor Tiskilwa, Ill., "Chief," says: "We won't keep house without Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, coughs and colds. Experimented with many others, but never got the true remedy until we used Dr. King's New Discovery. No other remedy can take its place in our home as in it we have a certain and sure cure for coughs, colds, whooping cough, etc." It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged on you as just as good as Dr. King's New Discovery. They are not as good, because this remedy has a record of cures and besides is guaranteed. It never fails to satisfy. Trial bottles free at C. E. Holton's drug store.
